Star Codes

The codes used by analog phone users to activate features (commonly referred to as "star codes") are also supported for IP phones. By pressing the pound or star button on the telephone and entering the proper code, you can make use of these codes for feature use.

The feature must be active at your phone for it to be accessed from the star codes. Some caution should be used when activating features from star codes, since they may not be reflected in display messages or lamp activity on the telephone.
